Some Thoughts for You.

Joseph was certainly what we would call a person of "character." He was honest, hardworking, a friend, and holy on top of all that. Think about the following questions?

1. What does "character" mean to you?
2. Does the meaning of "character" change much when you put the word "Christian" in front of it?
3. If you had to write about "character" with the following words, each in front of "character," what would you say it would take, and could you name a good example of a person you know that would be an example of it? The words are: financially, morally, ethically (in business), socially, and spiritually.
4. How many people can you identify in your life right now whose character has helped and encouraged you? What is a way that you can thank them this week?
